Campus Hears New Rumbles Of Thunder

By John Schaffner

Smartness and simplicity highlight this year's "Ziegfeld Follies" edition of "Campus Thunder." Director Albert Dickason has been putting the undergrads through the paces of some very intricate dance steps and from all indications, this year's edition of Thunder, Nov. 21, 22 and 24, might easily be the finest yet.

Evening classes have proved a pitfall that Dickason and his troupe have had to overcome. Rehearsals are scheduled for weekends in order to get best results.

The Knights of Thunder, honorary dramatic fraternity, has been doing a fine job of keeping spirits high. The Knights have been pouring coffee and serving home-made cookies to the thespians between scenes during the rehearsals.

Due to Stage Manager Gary Singer's recent illness, Stew Baker has been taking over the job of stage manager. Frank Castelliucci, Mary Lou Elliot and Mary Pitrello can be seen almost every rehearsal sticking their experienced two cents into the game of greasepaint and downbeat.

This year's Ziegfeld Girls are being fitted for special costumes by Marguriet of the Marguriet Costume Shop. They're beautiful. (The costumes, that is.)

Tomorrow Is Last Day To Claim Thunder Tix

Have you picked up your tickets for Campus Thunder yet? Reserved tickets will be placed in general circulation if they are not picked up by tomorrow.

Tickets are now on sale at the Business Office, Howland Hall.

Booster Buttons Are On Sale; Get Yours Early

Booster buttons, saying "University of Bridgeport" and "U B A Booster, I Am," are on sale now and obtainable from members of the Student Spirit Committee. As of now, over $100 worth of the buttons have been purchased by UB students at 25c each.

The buttons serve a two-fold purpose: they help to boost spirit and publicize UB, and they help finance the work of the Student Spirit Committee.

Al Lepow, UB sports publicity director and Harvey Seltzer, Student Council president, designed the button, which is purple on a white background. It is about 2 1/2" in diameter.

Make sure that you get your booster button soon. UB a UBogster. . . . we are!

All students, especially those lower classmen who are interested in becoming sociology majors, are invited to attend. Freshmen will have an opportunity to meet informally with members of the sociology department faculty and upper class sociology majors.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Ella Johnson, head of the children's division of the North End Library and the Wonde Workshop.

On Wednesday, Nov. 19, the Sociology Colloquium, in conjunction with the Subalpino Club of Bridgeport, will sponsor an Italian Night as the second ethnic of the year. The menu for the evening at the Subalpino Club will feature veal scallapino as well as the usual antipasto and minestrone.

The program for the evening will include choral singing of Italian folk songs. There will also be a display of Italian costumes.

All students interested in attending this dinner must make their reservations with Dick Pucklin or any member of the Colloquium before Nov. 17. The price for the evening is $1.25.

Chris M. Parrs, class of '47, is chairman of the committee planning the Grand Homecoming. Assisting him are Robert A. Donaldson, Carl R. Huber and Everett J. Matson, all of the class of '50; and John Saccone, '49. Members of the executive board of the Alumni relations at the University, Student Spirit Committee will assist in the arrangements.

All students are invited to join with the alumni to visit the open house at Alumni Hall after the Maryland State football game Saturday afternoon. A pep rally will be held at Bishop Hall for the Knights immediately after the game.

The 23rd annual Homecoming Banquet will be held at 7:30 P. M. at the Stratfield Hotel sun parlor. The Rev. Dr. William H. Anderson of the First Methodist Church will be the guest speaker and Carl R. Huber, president of the Alumni Association, will act as master of ceremonies. Other speakers will be James H. Halsey, president; Dr. Henry W. Littlefield, vice-president; and William W. Everett, professor of biology.

An informal dance to the music of Danny Leeson and his Homecoming Four will be held following the banquet.

UB Is Accepted In College Assn.

The University of Bridgeport was accepted for membership in the Association of Urban universities at the 38th annual meeting in Detroit recently. James H. Halsey, president of the University, attended the meeting and received the official notification.

The association is comprised of colleges and universities throughout the country which are located in urban communities and which are especially interested in serving the higher educational needs of their own communities. There are only 75 colleges listed as members of the association.

At this meeting seven other urban universities were accepted, including Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Brooklyn College, New York; Southern Methodist University, Texas; State University of New York; University of Tampa, Florida; and Union College, New York.

TRIBUTE to the late Gertrude Mendleson Finkelstone is a set of Great Books of the Western World presented to the UB Library. Placed under a bust of Dante, the 54-volume set is admired by Librarian Lewis Ice and Sophomore Barbara Ahlstrand.

Journalists Aid Scribe Coverage Of U.S. Election

Now that the election is a thing of the past, and The SCRIBE's first election extra has appeared, we'd like to take time out to tell you just what happened as far as the issue and national coverage is concerned.

The SCRIBE was aided by the combined journalism classes of Howard B. Jacobson and Theodore Dahl.

Some students were posted at WICC, Republican, Democratic and Socialist headquarters, Town Clerk's Office and many downtown positions, while other students were tabulating the results as they came over the radio from local and New York stations.

A telephone line was reserved for New York, for The SCRIBE was sending the results of the Bridgeport and Fairfield County voting to radio station WNBC and television station WNBT in New York for national transmission.

Those students who helped and the positions they occupied on the extra coverage were:

What's An Alumnus?

What's an Alumnus anyway?

As graduates, we become members of the University's Alumni Ass'n, so let an alumnus answer the question. There are now 4,000 active members of the Association, spread out through the whole nation. Alumni leaders have labored hard during recent years to form a strong and functional organization of our lot and have been pretty successful.

Today, a great many of our male number are in the service, many of the rest of us are just settling down to family and business.

This is the twenty-third time we're planning to come home. We'll be feted at the Stratfield Hotel, will watch the game and will visit the building that bears our name. We're going to make plans on how to grow stronger and better. We're interested in UB.

What are we going to do about it?

We'll carry UB's name into our businesses and will open up opportunities for those who will follow us.

We'll work for a close and beneficial cooperation between our community and our school.

We'll work on committees for a better UB.

For ourselves? We're now able to keep our college made friends close at hand. We're going to be able to get aid from them in business and will aid them in return.

After the Homecoming, back in the office, we'll talk to a young job seeker. Being a UB grad, we'll know that he is well trained for a job. We'll give him one because we helped build UB and we're confident.

So we hope that on our next return, the undergrad will stop and talk to us. Let him tell us about the setup . . . what's good and what's bad . . . and what we can do to make things better.

Most of all, I guess we want to feel at home when we come back. We want to see and join in the spirit at the game . . . to get a friendly hella and know that things are still great.

OK, Mr. and Mrs. Alumni, welcome Home!!!

Be A UB Booster

Do you have all your buttons? What buttons? Why the "UB A Booster Button", naturally! If the answer to that question is NO, we suggest that you get activated and do something soon!

A group of enthusiastic individuals, who comprise Student Spirit Committee, have really taken advantage of Leap Year. They're going all out to try to pin the campus populus with "UB A Booster, I Am" button.

It seems that money is an important factor all around today. With that in mind, the committee originated the idea of the "Booster" buttons, the proceeds of which will enable them to carry on the tremendous job they have been doing so ably.

Money is not the only goal in the minds of the committee. Everyone who wears a "Booster" button will show outsiders just where his loyalty lies. The button speaks for itself in spirit and loyalty, manifesting your feelings toward your school and athletic teams.

During this week you will be approached by some member or members of the Committee. Don't turn them down. Show your student colors through the "UB A Booster, I Am" buttons.

Former UB Student Shows Chess Skill

By Irv Sobolov

Mathew A. Deluto, former UB student, will be guest of the Chess Club next Thursday, at 8:30 P. M. in the Faculty Lounge of Bishop Hall, where he will give demonstrations in chess techniques.

While at UB, Mr. Deluto was a member of the Chess Club and served as tournament director for a brief time. After leaving UB, Mr. Deluto joined the Marshall Chess Club of New York and participated in their intermediate tournaments.

While playing at the Marshall Club, Mr. Deluto won his first tournament and has gone on from this first tournament win to meet some of the outstanding chess players of this and other countries. Among these were draws with Elliot Hearst, former N. Y. state champion, Carlos Guidard of Argentina, and O'Kelly De Galway of Belgium and a win from Arturo Pomar, champion of Spain.

Mr. Deluto is a member of the United States Chess Federation, which rates all chess players. In the Federation's publication of June, 1952, he was credited with 1900 points. In recent tournaments he has brought his point total up to 2100, ranking him as an expert.

This year Mr. Deluto was invited to participate in the recent New York State Championship Tournament. The New York Times has given note to Mr. Deluto's fine performance in a recent match with Anthony Santestiero. At present he is involved in the Marshall Club Championships.

All chess players, whether experienced or beginners, are invited to participate in the simultaneous exhibition.

Christmas Vacation Jobs Can Be Had At Placement

Frank Wright, University industrial co-ordinator and director of placement, announced that Christmas jobs will be available to UB students shortly after the Thanksgiving recess.

He urged all students needing a position to contact him at his third floor Howland Hall office and fill out a necessary application.

Wright also stated that positions in retail stores as well as delivery jobs will be made known at that time.

Sports Equipment Levy—SPA Gift

Athletic equipment for Alumni Hall in Sigma Phi Alpha's name is the latest gift presented to the University by the relatives of Morty Levy, class of '51.

Morty Levy, the first student of this University to die in the service, was a member of Sigma Phi Alpha fraternity. He died of spinal meningitis at Camp Chafee, Arizona.

Active in many school organizations, Morty was also a star on the 1950-51 varsity tennis team, along with his buddy Larry Seaman, fraternity brother and UB alumnus.

A $1500 Morty Levy Sigma Phi Alpha Memorial Loan Fund was set up this year by his relatives. The recipients of this fund for this semester are Anthony Tomanio and George Hausel.

The Levy Family has also contributed to the development fund drive.

WE'RE OLD MASTERS IN THE ART OF CLOTHES FOR COLLEGE

We may fall short in discussions of Plutarch and Plato, but we hold a master's when it comes to clothes and college.

It's a good idea to plan your clothes as carefully as you plan your course of study. Your money will go further and so will you, if your wardrobe is PLANNED and your purchases budgeted. We've helped a lot of students with our P. B. A. (personal budget account). Why don't you find out how easily it works?

UB Knights Meet Maryland State In Season's Last Fray 2 P. M. Saturday

By Al Munrow

Saturday finds the UB squad playing its final game of the season as it takes on the Hawks of Maryland State.

Maryland State is, this year as in the past, a power-house of strength with a sparkling ground attack in the person of such speedsters as Smith, Crosby and Bell. They have one of the finest backs in the east in the person of Duke Davis. They also have a fine supporting squad with Wayman Wilbur, end; "Dance" McDaniels, end; and "Baby Face" Raikes, guard.

Basically, the squad is composed of veterans. Up to the present they have scored 196 pts. under Coach McCain as compared to 19 pts. scored against them. In the past five years, they have racked up an amazing record of 37 wins and 2 losses with no ties.

In 1948, the powerful Hawks beat the Knights by a score of 26-13.

The Maryland squad, however, is coming into this UB game after a week's layoff and may be rusty because of this.

The game, besides being the last chance the UB football fans have of seeing their squad in action, has an added significance in that it is the Alumni Homecoming game.

UB's hope rests in the persons of its backfield men, Nastasia, Johnson and Finklestein, who have up to now been held down in the scoring department and who are bound to break out of their slump.

The Knights have a hard road to hoe, but they have a good chance to add another tally to their win column.

Staff of Survey Group Has UB Headquarters

Dr. Burt MacLeech, head of the Greater Bridgeport Survey of Liberal Adult Education and his staff now have their headquarters in Cortright Hall.

A Ford Foundation project, the survey will extend over a three year period. The University of Bridgeport is one of the many organizations in Greater Bridgeport

'Knight' Basketball Schedule Lists 23 Court Contests

Herbert E. Glines, director of athletics at UB announced that the Purple Knights will play 23 games in the coming basketball season. Thirteen games will be played on UB's home court, the State Armory on Main St.

There are 19 games with opponents returning from last year's schedule. The other four games are with two newcomers and two opponents that had previously been on UB's slate. The newcomers are St. Michael's College of Vermont and American International College of Springfield, Mass. The teams returning to the schedule, are Manhattan College and Bryant College.

The schedule is as follows: Nov. 26, Alumni (H); Nov. 29, Brooklyn Poly (A); Dec. 2, Manhattan (A); Dec. 3, Bryant (H); Dec. 6, Hillier (H); Dec. 10, Iona (H); Dec. 13, New Haven (H); Dec. 16, Pratt (A); Dec. 20, St. Michael's (H); Jan. 7, Arnold (H); Jan. 9, Fairfield (A); Jan. 14, New Britain (A); Jan. 16, Adelphi (H); Jan. 17, Rider (H); Jan. 28, American International (A); Feb. 4, Hartwick (A); Feb. 7, Fairleigh Dickinson (H); Feb. 13, New Haven (A); Feb. 14, Panzer (H); Feb. 18, New Britain (H); Feb. 21, St. Anselm's (A); Feb. 23, Arnold (A); and Feb. 28, Fairfield (H).

SPA Gains Title By Downing AGP

By Mickey Vail

Scoring 20 points in the fourth quarter, SPA defeated AGP 27-12 to win the 1952 Intramural touch football tournament. This win gave the victors an undefeated, untied record of 7-0-0.

An intercepted pass set up the first AGP score, midway through the initial quarter, Nick Levycky snared the pass and ran it back to within striking distance of the goal line. Four plays later, Bill Johnson passed to Don Glazing for the score, and AGP led 6-0.

Late in the second quarter, Gus Seaman took a short pass from Al Lepow and ran the remaining 40 yards for the tying TD. Lepow scored the extra point and SPA led at half time 7-6.

Once again AGP forged into the lead as Johnson again threw to Glazing for the score. From this point on AGP threatened just once more as SPA took complete command of the game.

The deciding TD was scored when on a beautifully executed sleeper play, Lepow took an Ernie Amaral aerial in the end zone. Seaman added the extra point and SPA was ahead for good.

In the closing minutes of the game Dickie LaBash ran the length of the field after SPA had stopped an AGP threat close to its goal line. Seaman added the extra point. LaBash also scored the final TD on a pass from Amaral. The try for the extra point was missed and the game ended with the score 27-12.

In other games this week, POC topped APO 20-8 to gain a tie for second place. Walt Lombardo, Bob Unger and Joe Klein scored for the victors.

The APO-Park Hall game was cancelled because of rain.

TS moved into fourth place by winning forfeits from Trumbull Hall and Waldemere Hall to finish with a 4-4-0 record.

Park Hall moved out of the cellar as they beat Waldemere 6-0. Paul Hennion intercepted a pass and ran half the length of the field for the game's only score.

By MICKEY VAIL

Fourteen wins, sixteen losses and one tie is not the most impressive record. But Head Coach Walt Kondratovich deserves a big round of applause for his three-plus years of coaching football at UB. With a limited amount of talent, he has done a remarkable job.

The lack of talent has been a problem in the short grid history of UB. There has not been a lack of individual stars, however, as such names as Saccone, Longo, Hirth et al: will attest, but the lack of depth in talented players.

In part, this has arisen out of the University policy of not giving athletic scholarships, as such, to football players, but relying instead upon students interested in playing football.

The career of Mr. "Kay" as he is dubbed by the student body, is the story of the local boy coming home and making good. A standout three letterman at Warren Harding High School in Bridgeport, he later went to Columbia University where he starred as a halfback for the grid forces of Lou Little for three seasons.

With one year of potential eligibility remaining however, "Kay" was declared ineligible for the football squad because he had amassed too many college credits and had earned his degree during the summer.

After graduation he was named backfield coach at Columbia under Little. He remained there for two seasons, absorbing much of the master's teachings, before he came to UB in the Spring of 1949 as assistant to Chet Gladchuck. He was named head coach in August of the same year, when Gladchuck left to play professional football.

"Kay" holds a Masters degree in health and physical education from Columbia, and holds the official title of Instructor in Health Education at UB, in addition to his football post.

In the first game he coached at UB, his warriors rewarded him richly by defeating Upsala 12-0. The team went on from there to have its best season as it won five times while only losing twice.

Although his teams have never done as well as this first season, he had managed to keep the record above the .500 mark until the Adelphi game this year.

Prospects for the rest of this year are not too good but Kay is looking ahead to when his many Freshmen and Sophomores will come into their own and bring UB football back where it belongs . . . at the top of the heap.

IKE WINS ELECTION!!! Sounds funny to hear that phrase now, doesn't it? The elections have been over for a week and a half, and any mention of the result seems like English history.

So much for this week's lecture. Let's take a walk ALONG PARK PLACE and see what is going on this week. We start our journey at the Seawall, which is the starting place for anything that happens around here (That is what people tell me.)

Once inside the "Wall", we are attracted to the bar first thing. John Carrol is on duty tonight, and he seems to be telling a story to some of his friends. Let's listen in on the story.

"So these three kids come in, all dressed up mind you, and start yelling something about 'trick or treat.' Can you imagine! From me they want candy and money."

"I told those kids how tough times are, and how I only get $12 for a 25 hour day. Then I told them about all the bills I had to pay the end of the month, and do you know what happened. Those little kids looked up at me, smiled and dumped all the stuff they had collected right on the bar. I don't mind the 23 pennies so much, but what the devil am I going to do with 14 jelly-beans?"

From the "Wall", we go up the block, past a few stands and over Lafayette St. After we sneak by Trumbull Hall, the towering pillars of Alumni Hall loom before us. Darned if the building doesn't look pretty good with a coat of paint on it.

Just as we start to pass the Tech building, Charlie "Whispering" Smith comes along and we have to stop and talk to him. After a long drawn out story about some party that his fraternity (POC) had at Leigh Danenberg's house after the football game last Saturday night, we manage to get away to the corner of Park Pl. and Myrtle Ave.

OH, OH. Here comes that girl from Schiott Hall. She's pretty mad at me because of the mistake I made about the party there last week. "Yes, Joan, I know Joan. Sure. The party was Saturday and not Friday? OK, I'll do something about it next week. What? It was a French party and not a Halloween party? All right, I'll straighten everything out next week. What's that? All right. I won't call you witches anymore."

As we continue our trip ALONG PARK PLACE, we pass the front of Bishop Hall, and come to that dangerous intersection. Park and Park Place. Fifteen minutes later, when the last car has gone screaming by, we cross over to Cortright Hall. There are some lights on in The SCRIBE office. Let's go see who is up there.

Boy, those stairs get worse each time. There is Roger Saxton. He looks a little angry. I wonder what could be the matter? Excuse me a minute, will you? I want to see what is bothering him. . . Well, let's be on our way again. What? Oh, Roger. He was just complaining about the fact that I printed the wrong information about the ADO party next week after the opening night of Campus Thunder. The affair is in the Main Ballroom of the Hotel Barnum instead of the Hunt Room and tickets are $75 per person.

I don't know why he was so excited. Well, I guess it's nothing to worry about. Now past the bookstore we go, until we hit Fones Hall. What's that! There's some big guy out in front yelling his fool head off about something. Better check up on this.

Forget about it. It was just Bob Nolan yelling about the AGP "Sword and Shield" Homecoming dance tomorrow night at Glorieta Manor. Bob was saying something about there being professional entertainment and how the dance has been a great success year after year. I didn't mind listening to him babble on, but when he started to tell me the tickets are $2 each and could be had from any fraternity member or at the door, it was just too much for me to take.

What's that? You have a date to go to dinner? OK. I'll see you next week. Good bye.

Students Visit City's Airport

Operations at the Bridgeport Municipal Airport were studied recently by UB students enrolled in the class in Transportation with John Kubic, supervisor for American Airlines, serving as host to the group.

Twenty-one students participated in the field trip conducted by instructor Murray H. Weiss, who is also general claims agent at National Transportation Co. This is the second annual trip made by students enrolled in this course.

At the airport the students visited the Department of Commerce weather bureau station to observe weather predictions and the use of instruments. They were also shown how reservations are made for flights all over the country to insure continuous passage of cargo and visited the shortwave radio room where communications are broadcast to flights.

Tariff rates, storage facilities, loading and unloading problems were also observed as well as witnessing the operation of the control tower for the airport.

Public Opinion Shows Why 'Ike' Is Victor

By Cynthia Lee

"The drums go bang, the cymbals clang, the horns blaze away" . . . and a new President is born. Here, on the UB campus, the University Family does "get out and vote", SCRIBE staff members stay up all night to get election returns and students sit listening to blaring radios until the last results are in and the verdict is announced.

On the next day, and the day after that, and for all the days following for four years, opinions are expressed and reactions are forthcoming. But especially during the first few days after Election Day the opinions are loud and vehement and the reactions are equally stimulating.

Around campus the talk was varied. Of course, there was a lot of rejoicing on one side of the fence and black depression, on the other. (I've even heard that some "Donkey" advocates were so broken up that they spent the whole day in sack cloth and ashes of one sort or another.)

Everyone seemed willing to concede the point that the campaigns of both candidates were important in swinging public opinion. There was also a general consensus of opinion regarding the personalities of the contestants. Some seemed to feel that the fact that Eisenhower has been a national figurehead for quite some time was a key to his greater popularity.

By the same token, the idea that Stevenson would have made a better showing for himself if he had had more dynamic publicity (unhampered by that afforded by his colleagues) and more "exciting" campaign speeches, was prevalent.

What immediate affect do UB students think the election returns will have upon them as college students? Korea — the end of the fighting or the beginning of it (for the male students) — was what we heard most.

There was almost universal surprise at the ratio of returns. Several grumbling UB men have attributed this to "the women's vote."

Right or wrong, factual or hypothetical as these ideas and opinions may be, the important thing is that these reactions show UB students to be civic-minded, aware and interested.
